

Minister Opportunity

The Unitarian Universalist Community Church of Southwest Michigan is looking for a new Minister. If you are passionate about social justice, curious about varied religious traditions, and have experience providing pastoral care in a liberal religious faith, we would like to hear from you.

We are looking for someone on a one half to three quarter time basis who is interested in helping a committed group of individuals in their free and responsible search for meaning. We want to have our religious beliefs challenged, our support for the inherent worth and dignity of every person affirmed, and our strong tradition of caring for each other continued with high quality pastoral care.

If you find traditional religious doctrines confining and enjoy exploring the possibilities, this might be an opportunity for you.

Completion of seminary, including an advanced degree is required.

Our church is located in Portage, Michigan. You can learn more about us on the web at:
